Guy Watkins

Called in 1999 +44 (0)20 7583 9241

Guy Watkins specialises in personal injury, clinical negligence, inquests, insurance and employment work.

Guy acts for both claimants and defendants in personal injury matters involving serious and fatal accidents, product liability, and industrial disease. His caseload tends to involve catastrophic and other high-value claims with complex medical causation and quantum issues. He undertakes liability work, usually involving complex factual and/or expert evidence. Guy also advises on related insurance matters.

He has experience of a range of clinical negligence work, including negligently performed surgery resulting in the need for leg amputation, failed sterilisation, and failure to ensure appropriate transfer arrangements between hospitals for neuro-rehabilitation.

Guy has experience of a wide range of inquest work, including road traffic accidents, workplace death and a fatal diving accident.

His employment experience is wide-ranging and covers, for example, unfair dismissal, redundancy, whistle-blowing and sex, race, disability, religious belief and age discrimination. He acts for both claimants and respondents. He also acts in contractual disputes with an employment flavour.

Clinical Negligence

Guy acts in clinical negligence claims for claimants. He has experience of a wide range of clinical negligence cases, including negligent treatment resulting in the need for leg amputation, failed sterilisation, and failure to ensure appropriate transfer arrangements between hospitals for neuro-rehabilitation.

Employment

Guy's experience of employment work is wide-ranging and covers, for example, unfair dismissal, redundancy, whistle-blowing, and sex, race, disability, religious belief and age discrimination. He acts for both claimants and respondents. He also acts in contractual disputes with an employment flavour.

Guy has acted for an international construction company in a number of employment cases, including:

- A claim for unfair dismissal following summary dismissal of an employee for failing a random drugs test.
- A claim against a former employee for fraudulent misuse of company labour.
- A whistle-blowing claim brought by a logistics manager.

Inquests

Guy has experience of a wide range of inquest work, including road traffic accidents, workplace death and a fatal diving accident.

Insurance

Guy advises on MIB and Article 75 issues.

Personal Injury

Guy acts for both claimants and defendants in catastrophic and other high-value personal injury cases both on his own and with leading counsel.

His personal injury work generally involves:

- Brain injury
- Spinal and other serious orthopaedic injuries
- Amputation and prosthetics
- Fatal accidents and dependency claims
- Provisional damages
- Foreign accidents
- Liability issues in relation to road traffic accidents, work equipment, industrial and construction site accidents
- Motor Insurers' Bureau
- Criminal Injuries Compensation
- Complex medical causation issues

Guy has a particular interest in limitation and is the author of the Personal Injury / Clinical Negligence chapter in the 'Law of Limitation' published by Bloomsbury Professional.
