

Victoria Logue

Called in 2005 020 7583 9241

Victoria Logue (Tory) joined Farrar's Building in 2017 after 10 years as a tenant at Parklane Plowden in Leeds.

Her practice focuses predominantly on personal injury and civil fraud. She is instructed by claimants and defendants, has considerable trial experience in fast and multi-track cases. She also deals with interim hearings including applications, costs and case management hearings.

All types of paperwork are undertaken by Tory, including advising on liability, quantum, evidence, procedural issues, and tactics. She drafts pleadings, schedules of loss and skeleton arguments. She has a quick turnaround time for paperwork and is happy to accept urgent instructions. In addition, she is experienced in negotiation and leading conferences with solicitors and clients.

Personal Injury

Tory's areas of expertise include road traffic accidents, fatal accidents, fraud/ fundamental dishonesty (LVI, phantom passengers and staged accidents), highways, tripping & slipping claims, health and safety regulations, inquests, employer and public liability matters.

Tory has a particular interest in cases involving product and public liability work, having drafted statements of case, advised and fought trials in this area for both claimants and defendants. Particular examples include claims relating to personal injury arising from health, beauty and cosmetic treatments.
